The jobbers came to the market this fall prepared to pay higher prices, but the manufacturers, instead of mutually agreeing to an advance which they knew to be inevitable in the near future, were afraid of each other, and endeavored to save the advance at the expense of the quality of the goods. The fact is, furs have been so low for the past two years that buyers have been getting letter hats than the price warranted, and the cheapening of mixtures and trimmings only brings the hats to a fair value for the money. Everybody knows that hats that have been sold for 18. 00 were well worth 22. 50, but the low price of stock has made it possible to use fur that never ought...
