Excerpt from The Last Hours of Persons Eminent for Piety; Of Unhappy Infidels, and of Converted Infidels Who Testified to the Truth of Christianity: To Which Is Added, a Whole Family in Heaven After the children had left the room and we were alone, he repeated several prayers, particularly one for the spiritual welfare of our children, ending, enable us to teach them Christ, and Christ crucified enable us to conduct them to the foot of the cross, and there to present them and ourselves. He then repeated several texts, ending with that one, Him that cometh to me, I will in nowise cast out. He observed, That is a blessed text, sent us for our comfort, - and, blessed be God, it has comforted me. He thanked God for his mercies, and had a deep fear of ingratitude. Some time since, he told me, that one bad symptom of his disorder was lessened What a blessing! Said I: Indeed it is a blessing, he quickly replied, and added, I did not think, till you had said that word, of thanking the Lord for it. What an ungrateful wretch I am! Very frequently after that, did he complain of his ingratitude, and of his utter unworthiness of all God's mercies. He advised all his friends to give up the world, and to devote their talents and time to the service of the Lord.
