Createspace Independent Publishing Platform, United States, 2015. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .In 1963, a woman accepting a paid position-even a teaching position in a university engineering department-is thought to bring shame on her family. An upper middle-class wife was supposed to be supported, if not by her husband, then by her family. . But Claude Gruen, husband of author Nina Jaffe Gruen, sees her as a partner professional. Facing 160 disrespectful male students in a department with no full-time female faculty members is just the beginning of Nina s foray into an exclusively male professional world-and she learned a lot about how to be taken seriously. With great humor and wit, Nina shares her experiences as a fearless pioneer, determined to fulfill her intellectual potential as a real estate and marketing consultant. Whether she s hiding in the ladies room because it s official policy to not hire women professionals, or taken aback when told, That was an intelligent comment.for a woman, Nina s tales from the battlefield serve as a vivid reminder of how much has changed since the good old days of the 1960s and 70s.
