Forgotten Books, United States, 2016. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Address to the People of the Congressional District of Charleston For the vote which was given by me upon the final passage of this bill, all the newspapers throughout the State, which are attached to the doctrine of Nullification, have charged me with having sacrificed the interests of my constituents, and with having acted inconsistently with opinions which I had previously expressed. Anxious that my fellow-citizens, whether they be my political friends or foes, should be in possession of the motives of my political conduct, in order that they may be enabled to determine whether I merit their confidence, or have justly exposed myself to their censure, I will submit to them the reasons that governed me upon the subject under consideration. The provisions of the tariff act of 1832, are, by no means, such as I desired them to have been; but when they were under discussion, before Congress, the problem for the solution of the members of that Body, was not, in ordinary circumstances, what a Tariff act ought to be, nor in what manner it should be drawn, so as to satisfy the manufactures of the North, or the agriculturists of the South - the exclusive friends of protection, on the one hand, or of free trade on the other; - but whether any middle course could be devised, which would reconcile conflicting prejudices and interests - allay the fury raging in the bosoms of the two great Tariff parties into which the people were divided, and prevent that collision between them, which might, not only, disturb the harmony but endanger the existence of the Union.
