Reviews

Completely essential read publication. It is really basic but excitement in the fifty percent of the book. You will not really feel monotony at anytime of your respective time (that's what catalogues are for about in the event you ask me).

Not illustrated. 1906 Excerpt: . . . and why the whole scheme of Gothic design and construction has disappeared; but one feels the fact precisely as one distinguishes the difference between a musical harmony and a discord. sign is conceived with extreme gravity, decorative sense, and self-The April number of The Inland Architect contains various succestraint. We cannot refrain from republishing a photograph from cessful designs in the traveling seholarshipcompetition of the ACAhione of the French architectural magazines of an alleged architec-cago Architectural Club and various drawings from the exhibition United States Custom-house New York. Cass Gilbert, Architect. An Apartment-house Detail, Paris. Th. Petit, Architect; E. Derre, Sculptor of the same club. One of these, a study for the residence of an ambassador, by Mr. Robert North of Cornell University, is notably successful, showing as it does a rather unusual power in the intelligent and effective use of the established classical motives. Several views of a little memorial chapel in Chicago, by Messrs. Cram, Goodhue and Ferguson, are published in the same number. We are unable to discover anything in The Builder there is nothing to say, nor of The Architect, except that in the latter magazine are continued views of the newTruro Cathedral and several photographs of the amusing and immensely picturesque work of Herr Willy Bock, one of which we reproduce. The Builders Journal and Architectural Record contains nothing, except about the weakest attempt to justify. : iZ. : . . L-l French Renaissance in England, at the ex. pense of...
