Reviews

A top quality publication as well as the typeface used was intriguing to learn. Yes, it is play, still an amazing and interesting literature. I discovered this publication from my i and dad suggested this book to learn.

Unfavorable weather obtained during the month of February, both temperature and precipitation being deficient, and at the end of the month the general condition of wheat was unpromising. Some fields were reported to be badly damaged and others winterkilled. Much damp, soft corn remained in hand. The characteristic of March was the heavy precipitation occurring in the southern district the latter part of the month, the measurements assuming torrential proportions at many places. At the end of the month the flood situation had become dangerous, and general inundation ensued in the lowlands. Wheat and rye showed marked improvement, and at the end of the month the outlook was generally promising. The season was backward, the soil being too wet for spring plowing. A few fields had been sown with oats, but sowing had been delayed generally on account of rains. The weather was unseasonably cold throughout the month of April, and vegetation made slow growth. The sowing of oats, begun during the first decade, was practically finished at the end of the month. Plowing for corn was well advanced, under favorable conditions, by the 25th. Meadow s and pastures were very backward. The fruit prospect was generally promising, except for peaches, which had been badly winter-killed in many localities. May opened with unseasonable weather, but was soon followed by quite favorable conditions, which obtained mostly the remainder of the month. Considerable progress had been made in corn planting by the 15th,...
