Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Houses We Live Carpenters Journey Club Travels is a series of industrial readers on food, clothing, and shelter, designed for the use of pupils in the lower grades of the elementary schools. The children organize a Journey Club for the purpose of making trips to various parts of the world to find out about the foods they eat, the clothes they wear, and the houses they live in. They make their own investigations, and their personal observations are reported to the Club. These are supplemented by a Museum which they create with the samples of raw materials and finished products collected on their travels. The Houses We Live In treats of the experiences of the Journey Club members as they learn about the materials used in building their homes. During their travels, the children keep before them the motto they have chosen, to find out ; and they absorb the principles of the production of their food, clothing, and shelter, and the manners and customs of their own land in the past, and of the people in other parts of the world of to-day. The primary features of transportation and commerce are clearly brought out, and all travels are made along geographical lines. These books are based on the latest educational ideas of child interest and vitalized experiences. The plan is developed through a chain of industrial projects in which the personal element is emphasized, and every possible device is employed to stimulate the imagination. There are no cut and dried lessons. The subjects are presented as the adventures and actual experiences of the children themselves, and the Journey Club lives for the child-reader....
