It is not intended to perform the functions of the year book. During the World War, an extraordinary amount of work has devolved upon the members of the legal profession, and the members of the Seattle Bar have been no exception to the rule that the American Bar has done its duty in all forms of war work. The Honor Roll, placed in Department No. 11 of the Superior Court of King County, reproduced in this booklet, shows that 117 members of the Seattle Bar gave up their practice and served under the Colors. A very high percentage of these received commissions. Three gave their lives in battle in France. Those who stayed at home assisted...
