RareBooksClub. Paperback. Book Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. Paperback. 60 pages. Original publisher: Washington, D. C. : U. S. Govt. Accountability Office, 2006 OCLC Number: (OCoLC)86223423 Subject: Radioactive waste disposal in the ground -- United States. Excerpt: . . . available no later than 6 months in advance of submitting the license 4 application. In February 2005, DOE announced that it does not expect the repository to open until 2012 at the earliest, which is more than 14 years later than the 1998 goal specified by the Nuclear Waste Policy Act of 1982. More recently, the conference report for DOEs fiscal year 2006 appropriations observed that further significant schedule slippages for submitting a license application are likely. Further delays could arise from factors such as the time needed for EPA to establish revised radiation standards for Yucca Mountain and for DOE to revise its technical documents in response. Such delays could be costly because nuclear utilities, which pay for most of the disposal program through a fee on nuclear power, have sued DOE, seeking damages for not starting the removal of spent nuclear fuel from storage at commercial reactors by the 1998 deadline. Estimates of the potential damages vary widely, from DOEs estimate of about 5 billion to a nuclear industrys estimate of about 50 billion, but the cost for the damages will likely rise if there are further delays to opening the repository. Given these schedule slippages, Congress has considered other options for managing existing and future nuclear wastes, such as centralized interim storage at one or more DOE sites. The conference report for DOEs fiscal year 2006 appropriations directed DOE to develop a spent nuclear fuel recycling plan to reuse the fuel. However, according to the policy organization of the nuclear energy industry, no technological...
