It is then cut fine with a case knife, and stirred at intervals for one-half to threequarters of an hour sufficiently to keep the curd from matting under the whey. When the cubes are quite firm the whey is poured off and the curd left to mat at the bottom of the bottles if the old form of apparatus is used. The best tests are made when the separation of the whey is most complete. By allowing the samples to stand for a short time, more whey can be poured off, and the curd thereby rendered firmer. The water around the jars...
