GHOST LIGHT: A NOVEL (CLASSIC REPRINT) (HARDBACK)

Forgotten Books, 2018. Hardback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Ghost Light: A Novel Back. It was easy to understand how the place had gotten its name. The long, narrow hill had a footpath at the top where there was just room enough for one person on foot or a rider on horseback to pass over. It widened out a little toward the center and there were a couple of old stumps along each side which helped to create the illusion of the animal's body. Burrell seated himself beside one of the stumps and drew out paper and his Bible. Strange how little all this meant to him - he felt that studying the holy word with such concentration should have left a mark, should have changed him somehow. He was a little ashamed that it hadn't! Now he felt only peace and drowsiness, - the lazy, humming noises of the warm summer afternoon lulled him and presently he dozed off. It must have been the sound of horse's hoofs that awakened him with a start, and it was a few moments before his eyes could contain the picture that had suddenly appeared before him. A girl on a chestnut horse was poised against the brilliant blue of the afternoon sky. Motionless they stood there, as if carved by an unseen hand. The girl was very erect and seemed to be drinking in all the beauty of the surrounding country. Her thoughts seemed to be very far away, and Burrell, rising on one elbow to see her better, found himself scarcely breathing for fear of frightening her away.
